Virginia I,ee To Wed Into 7th Cavalry

Mrs. Fitzhugh Lee, of Richmond, announces the engagement of her daugh-Virginia, to Lieut. John Carter Montgomery, Seventh Cavalry, U. S. A., now stationed at Fort Riley, Kan., where Mrs. Lee and her daughter recently made a short visit on their way from the Philippines. There is a peculiar romance between the Lee fami'y and the Seventh Cavalry. This will be the third daughter of the late Gen. Fitzhugh Lee to marry into this regiment, in which there is already one son, They are Ellen Lee Rhea, wife of Captain Rhea, who is now at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.; Mrs. Ann Fitzhugh Lee Brown, wife of Lieut. Lewis Brown, now at Fort Riley, and Lieut, and Mrs. George Mason Lee, also stationed at Fort Riley.

Mrs. Lee and Miss Virginia Lee, the youngest of the daughters, went out to the Philippines two years ago to visit the various members of their family who were going there with the Seventh. and they remained until the Seventh was sent back again, a few weeks ago. They passed Capt. Fitzhugh Lee, the younger son, in San Francisco and had younger son, in San Francisco and had a short visit with him there, as he was on his way to Washington, where he was to be stationed and where he had been detailed for duty as a military aide in the White House.

It will be remembered that Mrs. Lee asked for a transfer for Fitzhugh Lee, to allow him to accompany his family to the Philippines, but this was not granted, owing to the desire of the President to have the young man represented with the other bearers of distinguished names in warfare, such as resented with the other bearers of distinguished names in warfare, such as Ulysses S. Grant, Philip Sheridan, and Guy V. Henry, and the request of Mrs. Lee was finally withdrawn. Lieut, and Mrs. Lewis Brown were then a bride and bridegroom.

No date is announced for the wedding of Miss Lee and Lieutenant Montgomery, but it is expected it will take place in Richmond this fall. Lieutenant Montgomery belongs to old Virginia stock, second to none, as his name, John Carter, indicates.

A Letter of Praise From Miss Helen O'Sullivan

ALL THE REASONS for the popularity of Palais Royal goods are too numerous to mention. But here are a few. You have an intelligent system of advertising that states plainly what is offered for sale. When I arrive at the store the genuine value of the goods makes a favorable impression. The moderate prices appeal to me (what woman doesn't love a bargain), and I must not fall in awarding a word of pralse to the cheerfulness of the clerks, who carefully serve the wants of Palais Royal patrons.

Some stores excel in one or two specialties—the Palais Royal in many. Your tailor-made suits are characterized by their excellent cut and finish. Your evening gowns by their infinite variety in color, texture, and fashlon. Millinery department offers a field of choice, varying from the latest French creation to the simple American store hat.
